I'm the proud mother of 15-year-old twins. I firmly believe that every child should be introduced to professions that involve hands-on skills, be it in handicrafts or real estate, both for educational and financial benefits. Despite my best efforts, I struggled to find a platform where my children could pick suitable courses. Then I discovered KEMECADEMY. The ability to choose from hundreds of trainers and courses in my vicinity was a game-changer. From what I've seen, KEMECADEMY offers a singular service poised to revolutionize vocational training.

As the head of an architectural real estate firm, I oversee numerous projects involving craftsmen, construction workers, painters, carpenters, and plumbers, among others. To ensure their work met the highest standards, I sought hands-on training from industry experts. Your exceptional platform provided precisely what I was looking for, saving me substantial time, effort, and resources. Given the positive experience, I'm now gearing up, along with my team, to undertake courses in management, marketing, and project management.

As a plumbing professional with over 40 years of experience, I had a deep passion for my work, and it was all I knew. However, being over 60, my health was not as robust as it used to be, and I found myself struggling with feelings of loneliness and emptiness, I learned about KEMECADMEY, and a thought crossed my mind, 'Why not utilize my free time to teach the younger generation the art of plumbing?' This decision turned out to be one of the best choices I've ever made. Through my courses, I rediscovered my sense of purpose and felt that my community still had a need for my skills and knowledge. I'm grateful for the opportunity to share my experiences, as it helped me break free from isolation.

2. Partnership Agreement: Draft a legal partnership contract for building construction, defining management and contracting responsibilities, with Kemedar overseeing these tasks.
3. Financial Fund: Set up a dedicated fund for managing the building's financial aspects, including expenses and costs, and elect a board for oversight and accounting.
4. Accounting System: Implement an online accounting system for contributors to track project progress, expenses, and invoices in real-time.
5. Share Distribution: Utilize blockchain technology for equitable share distribution, issuing a unique blockchain token per building to streamline ownership transfers.
6. Flexible Pricing: Property prices are dynamic, reflecting the actual construction work and material costs, funded by contributors.
7. Ownership Transfers: Leverage blockchain for smooth transitions of ownership, aiding both reinvestors and those unable to fulfill their commitments.
